Stuttgart Declaration on Integrative Medicine

"The Stuttgart Congress illustrated the support that integrative health and medicine offers to addressing global health challenges such as antimicrobial resistance and non-communicable diseases; to expanding universal health coverage; and to addressing social, economic and environmental determinants of health at the individual and community level." - - -

- - "A Call for Action: Based on our commitment to reach the Sustainable Development Goals 2030 and a shared vision to improve human health and wellbeing for all, we aim to build a concerted, global movement to advance the integrative health & medicine approach, based on mutual respect, exchange, collaboration and cooperation."

Update on Inner Fire Initiative -

" - - a proactive healing community, offering striving individuals the choice to recover from debilitating and traumatic life experiences, (which often lead to addiction and mental health challenges), without the use of psychotropic medications. We opened our doors in Brookline, near Brattleboro in southern Vermont, on September 8th, 2015, welcoming six seekers to its yearlong intentional, therapeutic and farm based, day program. Once the Inner Fire Home has been built, our intention is to become a therapeutic residential community." read full article here
